INSTRUCTIONS

This is a mini-version of the University of the Philippines College Admission Test or UPCAT. The Test consists of 4 parts in multiple choice type questions. The subject areas are: Language Proficiency, Science, Mathematics and Reading Comprehension.

TIME ALLOTMENT OF TEST PARTS

The parts of the Test are separately timed. Look at the table.

SUBTEST	NO. OF ITEMS	TIME ALLOTMENT
1. Language Proficiency	24	12 min
2. Science	12	12 min
3. Mathematics	12	15 min
4. Reading Comprehension	24	18 min

If you finish a part before the given time is called, you may review your answers to the questions in THAT PART ONLY. You cannot use extra time for other subtests

ii Introduction

You should work as rapidly as you can without sacrificing accuracy. Do not stay too long on any one item. To make the best use of your time, answer the easier questions first and go back to the more difficult questions later.

If you are not sure of the correct answer to a question but know enough to eliminate some of the options as wrong, you may decide to take your chance in answering the item. Otherwise, you may choose to leave the item blank. Guessing may not improve your score significantly because one fourth of your wrong answers will be deducted from your score. On the other hand, there are no deductions for items left blank.

Make sure you shade only ONE option for each item number. MULTIPLE ANSWERS will be marked as WRONG ANSWERS and will be included in the fraction deducted from your score.

When the start signal is given, work rapidly WITHOUT sacrificing accuracy.

READING COMPREHENSION

Directions: Read each selection carefully then answer the questions that follow. On your Answer Sheet, shade the oblong corresponding to your choice of the best answer.

[1] You may want to picture life as a bamboo—flexible and open-ended, yet enduring. Since life stretches from youth to age, I see you at one end. Your red lips, red cheeks, and supple knees seek even more assiduously the sun's radiant glory. But while I feel the sun's lengthening shadow at my back, could we pause and talk awhile?

[2] If we, the older generation, dream dreams, you have your visions. Forward-looking, you can always project what you discern for our nation not only for now but for the years to come. You can engineer plans that will destroy some of our systems or structures that due to age have proved meaningless. This you can do since your imagination, sensitive to the signs of the times, is sharp and sparkling.

[3] Now, if we become fixed in our thoughts and practices, strike us and, like the biblical Moses striking the rock, water shall pour forth. If our rock stands for unchangeableness and solidity, then the water that shall flow from our rock shall be the water of progress, of development, of life itself.

[4] Remember the two ends of that piece of bamboo—age and youth. Together, we must make Philippine history in its flux towards progress.

49 What does the writer pose on the youth in the final sentence of the text?

- A a challenge
- B a question
- C a problem
- D a protest

50 What does the text say about the relationship between the older and the younger generations?

- A The two must take turns leading.
- B The two must work together.
- C The younger generation must follow.
- D The older generation must lead.

51 The speaker expresses a willingness to

- A open up to the youth.
- B dream with the youth.
- C give way to the youth.
- D listen to the youth.

52 The last sentence of the text says that the Philippines is

- A yet on its way to development.
- B almost where progress is.
- C a subject of concern.
- D a country where history is unfolding.

The proudest now is but my peer,
The highest not more high;
Today, of all the weary year,
A king of men am I.
Today, alike are great and small,
The nameless and the known;
My palace is the people's hall,
The ballot box my throne!

Who serves today upon the list
Beside the served shall stand;
Alike the brown and wrinkled fist,
The gloved and dainty hand!
The rich is level with the poor,
The weak is strong today;
And sleekest broadcloth counts
no more
Than homespun frock of gray.

Today let pomp and vain
pretense
My stubborn right abide;
I set a plain man's common sense
Against the pedant's pride.
Today shall simple manhood try
The strength of gold and land;
The wide world has not wealth to buy
The power in my right hand!

While there's grief to seek redress,
Or balance to adjust,
Where weighs our living
manhood less
Than Mammon's vilest dust—
While there's a right to need my vote,
A wrong to sweep away,
Up! Clouted knee and ragged coat
A man's a man today!

53 What is the theme of the poem?

- A the right to vote
- B the power of the ballot box
- C election of government officials
- D equality among men

[1] The Filipino comfort women were plucked from the unprotected peripheries of an occupied Filipino society which did not expect to be treated well by the Japanese and was, indeed, content to simply sit out the occupation, waiting for the Caucasian “master” to come back and make things right again. The case of these brave women has, ironically, given Philippine society, including its unheroic segments, a second chance at heroism, decades after the war.

[2] Many of us still agonize over whether the Filipino women were abused as repositories of “trash semen” with the sanction of the occupation forces’ high command or not. Although the point is debatable, it is really beside the point. Whether a woman is gang-raped by soldiers or used as a comfort woman (meaning, recruited at the behest of the highest-ranking Japanese Army officers), her ordeal is neither more nor less real; and her rapists are, by any name, war criminals. Indeed the most disciplined war criminals are the most loathesome; in their case, discipline comes to mean inhumane, even subhuman control.

[3] All victorious armies, we presume, take it to be their right to despoil the beaten enemy. Whether their despoilation of Filipino women was isolated and opportunistic rather than routine and systematic makes some difference, of course. But the difference is really very small in its historical context—the entire Filipino civilian population was routinely and systematically subjugated, whatever it took.

[4] By forcing us to come to terms with the past, the comfort women who have braved public ridicule have forced us to look straight at the beast which rears its hideous face at the breast of every man or woman drunk with power. And we are forced to concede, however grudgingly, that the powerless victim, as the Christians would put it, has a better chance of keeping his/her humanity than the (wo)man who has power and abuses it.

- [5] Let us then look back—to get angry, yes, but also to cleanse ourselves of anger.
[6] And vow to prevent the unspeakable events from ever happening again anywhere.

57 The passage clearly tells the reader that Filipino comfort women

- A came from places where people expected no pleasant experiences with the Japanese.
- B hoped to be treated well by the Japanese before the tragedy happened.
- C were just waiting for Americans to avenge what happened to them.
- D have always been left unprotected by Filipino men.

58 The ultimate solution to the problem of comfort women is

- A to stop ridiculing publicly these women who have already suffered much.
- B to punish the surviving Japanese soldiers.
- C to encourage people to be more Christian in their ways.
- D for people to be vigilant and keep such problems from occurring once more.

59 One way of interpreting “the beast” mentioned in the first sentence of paragraph 4 is seeing it as

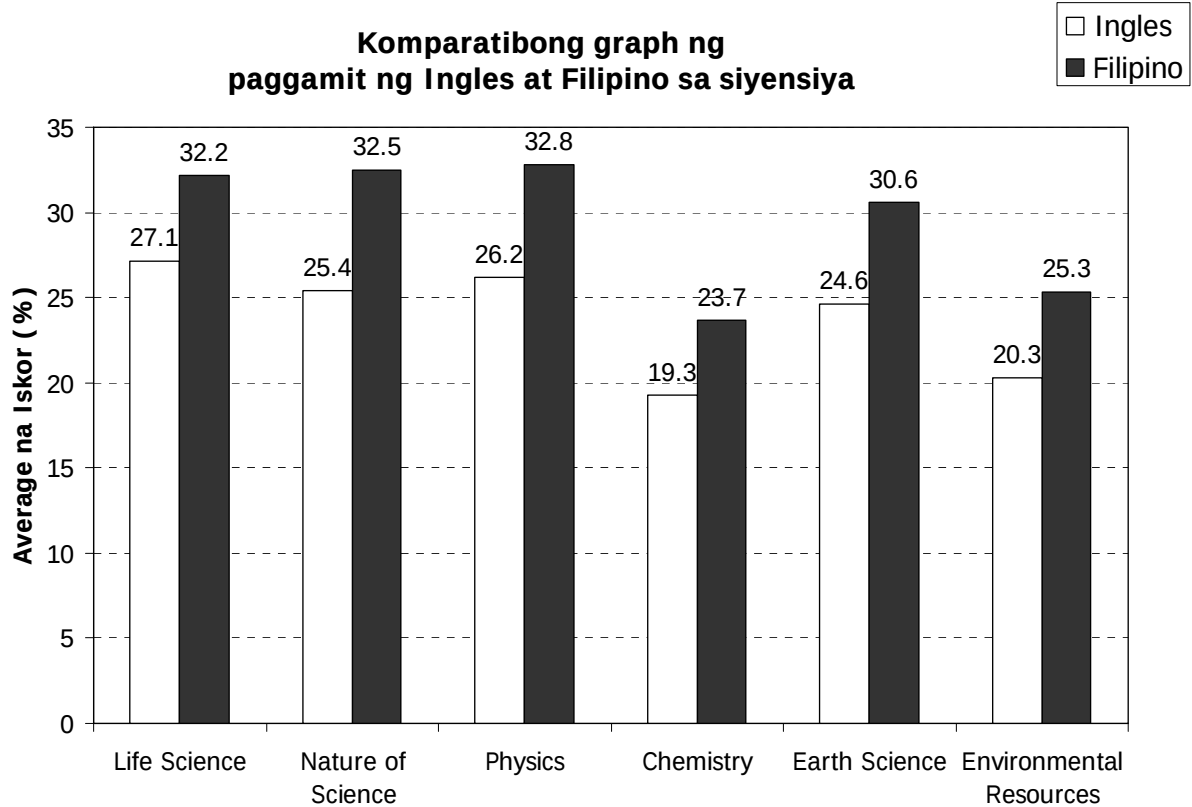

- A the evil that lies latent in the human heart.
- B the evil spirit opposing the goodness of God.
- C the desire for unlimited power over people’s lives.
- D the negative things like pride, envy and malice.

60 In summary, the passage tells us that

- A comfort women are perfect examples of what it means to be brave in the face of difficulties.
- B the case of comfort women has given Filipinos the chance to right a wrong and prevent a hideous event like it from ever happening again.
- C Filipinos owe it to comfort women to fight for these women’s right to obtain justice from the war criminals.
- D heroism is about having the courage to endure suffering.

Ang banog ang itinuturing na pinakamalaking agila sa mundo at matatagpuan sa mga isla ng Luzon, Samar, Leyte, at Mindanao. Tinatawag din itong haribon (haring ibon), manaol (ang matandang tawag sa agila ng mga Tagalog at Bisaya), garuda, at malabagook. Mayroon itong mangasul-ngasul na abuhing mata at taas na 1.021 metro mula sa dulo ng tuka hanggang sa dulo ng buntot. Pumapangalawa naman ang bigat nito sa Harpy Eagle na matatagpuan sa Timog Amerika.

Natagpuan ni John Whitehead ang banog noong 1896 sa Samar. Nakilala rin itong “monkey-eating-eagle” dahil sa pagkain ng unggoy, bagaman kumakain din ito ng butiki, musang, manok, paniki, usa, lawin, daga, at ahas.

Sa kasalukuyan, isa ito sa mga nanganganib na uri ng ibon dahil sa pagbabago ng sistemang ekolohiko sa mga kagubatan. Nawawala ang nakamihasnan nitong kaligiran at pagkain bunga ng malawakang pagtotroso at kaingin. Kaya naman, ipinasa ang Republic Act No. 6147 upang protektahan ang banog laban sa mga nangangaso. Noong 1990, sinasabing 30 hanggang 50 banog na lamang ang natitira sa mga kabundukan sa Pilipinas. Marami pang hayop na matatagpuan sa Pilipinas ang nanganganib ding mawala gaya ng malmag, ang uri ng tarsier na bantog ngayon sa Bohol, at tamaraw na matatagpuan lamang sa Mindoro.

Sa pagtatangkang lunasan ang pagkaubos ng mga banog, ilang organisasyon, tulad ng Philippine Eagle Foundation, ang nagsasagawa ng pagtatambal sa mga banog upang magkaroon ng supling ang mga ito. Ilan sa mga banog na napisa sa ilalim ng matagumpay na pag-aalaga ang bininyagang “Pag-asa” (1992), “Pagkakaisa” (1992), at “Pangarap” (1999).

- 65 Ano ang ipinahihiwatig ng pagkakaroon ng iba't ibang katawagan sa banog sa Pilipinas?

Mas oral ako, mas audio. Nakikinig lang ako, gusto kong kukuwentuhan ako kaysa magbabasa ako. Lumaki ako na tamad magbasa, tamad mag-aral. Natural lang na dumarating ang panahon kung kailan ang kahinugan, halimbawa, ang magbasa, magsulat. Ang kauna-unahang librong mayroon ako —na nasa akin pa, dilaw na ang mga pahina, may mga larawan na full page—ay Cinderella, isang Golden Book. Pagkatapos, sa pagkakatatanda ko, ang pangalawang libro ko ay koleksiyon ng mga tula—Mother Goose Rhymes. Mga bigay sa akin ni Papa. Nang nagkaroon ako ng sariling anak, may Aklat Adarna, kinukuwentuhan ko siya ng mga istorya ni Nick Joaquin bago matulog, na hindi naman talaga para sa maliit na bata, gustong-gusto niya.

Hindi ko alam noon na nagsulat pala ang tatay ko ng tula. Para bang ang lahat ng bagay na nalaman ko ay noong nasa high school o college ako, kasi iyon ang panahong namulat na ako, nagkaroon ako ng sariling malay, dahil siyempre noong bata ako, puro laro lang.
